Counties will be expected to secure land, obtain the necessary approvals, ensure availability of utilities and prepare staffing and operational plans. These measures are intended to ensure the hospitals can begin providing services soon after construction is completed.

The investment comes as Kenya seeks to strengthen a health system comprising 14,883 health facilities, while expanding access to specialised and critical care outside the country's major referral centres.

The Government expects the new hospitals to reduce the need for patients to travel long distances for specialised treatment and to relieve congestion at national referral hospitals.

The consultative meeting brought together Medical Services Principal Secretary Dr Ouma Oluga, Mombasa Governor and Chairperson of the Council of Governors Health Committee Abdullswamad Nassir, Migori Governor Ochilo Ayacko, Turkana Governor Jeremiah Ekama, Embu Governor Cecily Mbarire, Laikipia Governor Joshua Irungu, Kisii Governor Simba Arati and Marsabit Governor Mohamud Mohamed.

Also present were Presidential Advisor on Health Wilson Aruasa, Head of Health Infrastructure, Projects and Grants Management Dr Hezron Omolo, representatives of county governments and other Ministry officials.

PRSK to celebrate 55 years of excellence at annual awards gala

In pursuit of excellence, PRSK will be holding its 24th Excellence Awards on 27th August 2026. Excellence remains central to the public relations agenda, advancing the profession by promoting credibility, innovation and strategic communication that drives impact and builds trust.

BY HILDA CHESHARI (MYGOV)

The Public Relations Society of Kenya (PRSK) will mark 55 years of advancing professional communication in the country during its 24th Excellence Awards Gala Dinner scheduled for August 27 in Nairobi.

The event, is expected to bring together about 500 communication professionals, corporate executives, government officials and industry stakeholders to celebrate excellence in strategic communication and public relations.

Public Service Cabinet Secretary Geoffrey Ruku, who will preside over the gala as chief guest, said effective communication remains critical in strengthening leadership, public trust and institutional credibility.

"The PRSK Excellence Awards recognize professionals and institutions whose commitment to excellence continues to strengthen the quality of communication in Kenya. As PRSK marks 55 years, this celebration is a powerful reminder that investing in credible and strategic communication is investing in stronger institutions and a more informed society," he said.

The awards gala, themed "The Vintage Experience," will culminate in the recognition of individuals and organizations that have demonstrated outstanding achievement in communication practice.

Public Relations Society of Kenya (PRSK) Secretary General Noella Mutanda (Left), during a courtesy call to the Cabinet Secretary for Public Service, Geoffrey Ruku (C), to brief him on the upcoming awards.

Beyond the awards, the event will commemorate PRSK's 55-year contribution to promoting professionalism, ethical standards and excellence in public relations. The society says the milestone provides an opportunity to reflect on the evolution of the communication profession and its role in national development.

PRSK President Arik Karani said the anniversary celebration will honour the pioneers who laid the foundation for the profession while inspiring a new generation of communication practitioners.

"As we celebrate 55 years of PRSK, we honour a journey built by visionary founders, dedicated leaders and committed members who have strengthened our profession through every generation. This year's Excellence Awards invite us to reflect, celebrate and recommit to shaping a future defined by professionalism, ethics and excellence," Karani said.

Founded in 1971, PRSK has played a central role in advancing public relations practice in Kenya through professional development, advocacy and the promotion of ethical communication standards. The society said the anniversary celebrations will reaffirm its commitment to shaping the future of strategic communication in the country.
